TRINITY AND SOUTHWESTERN DOMINATE VOTING FOR 2004 ALL-TOURNAMENT BASEBALL TEAM

ATLANTA, Ga. – Not surprisingly, the two teams that met for the Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference (SCAC) Baseball Championship dominated the voting for the 2004 All-Tournament Team. The selections were made by the coaches whose teams participated in the championships this past weekend at Oglethorpe University.

Trinity University won the 2004 SCAC baseball title on Sunday with a thrilling, come-from-behind 7-6 victory over Southwestern University, and both teams had four players selected for inclusion on the team.

Jeff Gabbert of Southwestern was selected to the team for the third consecutive year – making him just the fourth player in conference baseball history to make three all-tournament teams. Gabbert joins the elite company of J.C. Bunch of Trinity (1998, '00, '01), Matt Gelotti of Southwestern (1998, '99, '00) and Jeff Taylor of Southwestern (1998, '99, '00) as three-time honorees. Teammate Matt Odom is also a repeat pick from last year's squad, and Trinity's Jason Armstrong made the team in 2001.
